DETAILED ACTION

The preliminary amendment filed on 8/31/2006 has been entered. Claims 1-31 have been canceled. Claims 32-50 are presented for examination. The information disclosure statement filed on 7/6/2009 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Art Unit: 2887

Claims 32 and 50 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Cohen et al. (Cohen et al – 2004/0120101; herein after referred to as Cohen) in view of Savalle et al. (Savalle et al. - 5,915,016; referred to as Savalle).

Regarding claims 32 and 50, Cohen discloses a chip card module comprising:

- (i) a chamber for receiving a chip card (figures 1A, 1B, 1C – smart card reader 15);
- (ii) a card input slot for accessing for accessing the chamber (figures 1A, 1B, 1C);
- (iii) a plurality of conductors (34, figure 1C; 52, figure 2; par. 0019, 0023, 0024).

The claim differs in calling for a set of contacts in a card reader for contacting the contacts of a smart card. Though Cohen discloses a smart card reader, there is no specific reference in Cohen's teachings regarding the contacts. However, this claimed limitation is not new. Reference to Savalle is cited as an evident showing the conventionality of a card reader having a pluralities of contacts for contacting the contacts of a smart card (figure 1). It would have been obvious to incorporate the contacts as taught by Savalle in the system as taught by Cohen. The modification is merely a design consideration that is well within the skill levels and expectations of an ordinary skilled artisan. Furthermore, the modification extends Cohen's teachings of anti-tampering conductors to contact-type IC card reader module.

Regarding claim 2, see figure 1 of Savalle wherein the contacts of the inserting card are arranged in two rows. Thus, the contacts of the contacting modules would also be arranged in two rows as shown in corresponding orders to connect to the contacts of the card.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 33-49 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter: The prior art fails to disclose a chip card contact module having anti-tampering conductors as recited in claim 32 and further comprising the limitations of claims 33-49.
